POSITION CONTEXT	Melbourne Girls Grammar is mindful of and guided by the Victorian Institute of Teaching's Code of Ethics and Code of Conduct and the values, qualities and processes that are central to this. MGGS acknowledges that when working within this framework, all Teachers have the professional responsibility to continuously enhance their content knowledge and pedagogical skills; be receptive to feedback from colleagues and pursue networks that provide collegial support and expertise. All Teachers actively serve the profession by participating in professional organisations which enhance and develop professional practice, challenge and extend current thinking.

	Collaborative partnerships with professional, community and research organisations are promoted as we offer a sustained commitment to greater knowledge and understanding of shared student learning and development.
VIT STATEMENT Professional Practice	Teachers in Victoria are committed to the learning and wellbeing of the students they teach and make a significant contribution to the communities in which they work. They respect the individuality, capacity and backgrounds of their students and maintain high expectations for student learning. Teachers are committed to the continuous development of their professional knowledge and practice. They work collaboratively, using research and evidence derived from theory and practice, to improve education and build effective communities of learners. Teachers share an essential and privileged responsibility with parents and communities to care for all young people, and to discover and develop their potential to learn independently and critically throughout their lives.
MGGS OBJECTIVES	MGGS Teachers demonstrate quality professional practice and community engagement. The School endorses the AITSL National Professional Standards for Teachers as the framework for their accountability and professional development. MGGS Teachers are recognised as highly effective, skilled classroom practitioners and routinely work independently and collaboratively to reflect on and improve their own practice and the practice of colleagues. They are knowledgeable and active members of the School community. MGGS Teachers contribute to their colleagues' learning. They may also take on roles that guide, advise or lead others. They regularly initiate and engage in discussions about effective teaching to improve the educational outcomes for their students. They maximise learning opportunities for their students by understanding their backgrounds and individual characteristics and the impact of those factors on their learning. They create positive and productive learning environments. Teachers have in-depth knowledge of subjects and curriculum content within their sphere of responsibility. They model sound teaching practices in their teaching areas. They work with colleagues to plan, evaluate and modify teaching programs to improve student learning. They keep abreast of the latest developments in their specialist content area or across a range of content areas for generalist teachers. Teachers are skilled in analysing student assessment data and use it to improve teaching and learning. They are active in establishing an environment which maximises professional learning and practice opportunities and set goals for continuous development. They monitor their own professional learning needs and align these to the learning needs of students. They behave ethically and appropriately at all times, in accordance with the MGGS Child Safety Policy and Code of Conduct. Their interpersonal and presentation skills are well developed. They communicate effectively and respectfully with students, colleagues, parents/carers and community members.
